GROUP

Wellness International is an integral part of our business, not only because they are physically present at our UK premises, but also because they contribute greatly to the well-being of our workforce, from the health screening programme through to the implementation of the Passport to Wellness programme. They provide not only a critical health check, but also a challenge for each and every one of us to get fitter.

The Wellness Team has gone from strength to strength and is highly dedicated to the quality of their service.

There is no doubt that, as we move to support the 2012 Olympic and Paralympic Games in London, Wellness International will play an even more critical role in making our employees fit and healthy for 2012.
